

Ingold Installs New Machine For Diagnosis Work

Dr. C. L. Ingold, local optometrist, has just completed a post graduate course of study at the University of Southern California on better methods of diagnosing muscular imbalances and their attendant troubles, with the result that he has installed one of the latest instruments known as the squint corrector.

Dr. Ingold claims that this machine will be of great help in re-establishing proper balance and coordination of the eye muscular function, in many cases removing glasses from the field of necessity, especially in cases where the patient has been fitted with glasses when his muscles were in a cramped condition with indications quite the opposite to their normal status.

Olympic Games Committee Warns Against Fakers

A warning sent out by the Tenth Olympiad Committee through the medium of the local Chambers of Commerce, advises all merchants and individuals to beware of fake advertising and selling schemes, promoted by individuals and based on the Olympic Games. The warning states, that "we are advised that already individuals have been trying to sell false credentials, stickers, stamps, souvenir booklets and advertising, all falsely claiming endorsement or approval by the Olympic Games Committee."

The official committee has endorsed no such movements. There is only one official souvenir booklet, put out by the Neuner Printing and Lithographing Company of Los Angeles which contains no advertising and sells for not more than 50 cents. Olympic automobile plates are sold by Van-Speres Sales Corporation, with a certificate attached to each set of plates signed by the treasurer of the Olympic Games Committee, George W. Graves of Detroit. The National Committee is raising funds to finance the American team by direct subscription through responsible committees in each community. No other means of raising funds is authorized and all persons who are approached to purchase Olympic Games material should check up carefully to be sure that they are not being defrauded by unscrupulous agents.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

By HOMER L. ROBERTS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 28.—(U.P.)—It's just a few days, now, until California's presidential primary election, which decides the fate of Franklin D. Roosevelt, John N. Garner and Alfred E. Smith as Democratic possibilities. More than ever, California's position is considered as of strategic importance in deciding the chances of these three men at the June convention.

Although political circles at Sacramento regard the battle as between Roosevelt and Garner, with Smith running third, there is no sign in a let-up of the vigorous campaign being waged for the former Democratic candidate. Meanwhile, United States senatorial and congressional aspirants are resting until after May 3, in the belief that Mr. John Voter can only keep track of one political matter at a time.

Now that Judge Matt I. Sullivan has given his report to Governor Rolph opposing a pardon for Tom Mooney, and Rolph has denied the prisoner's application, it is believed that Judge Sullivan may attack the state water problem again.

The matter has been at a standstill since the joint legislative water committee urged Governor Rolph to call a special session. The governor has passed the entire question, as he did the Mooney pardon case, to Judge Sullivan to decide.

Inspector John J. Manion, for many years chief of San Francisco's famous Chinatown police detail, will be named chief of the state division of narcotic enforcement, according to persons "in the know" at Sacramento.

Manion, it is understood, has the approval of Theodore Roche, president of the San Francisco police commission, and personal adviser to the governor, and Daniel J. O'Brien, director of the state department of penology. Manion's acceptance of the post, it is understood, depends upon whether he can get a "leave of absence" from his police job. Otherwise he would have to forego his eligibility for retirement.

Political gossip: A calm has settled down over educational circles in California after the announcement that Vierling Kersey will not leave his post as state superintendent of public instruction. . . . It is believed that even yet Kersey may have opposition at the next state election and the State land leasing act May 3 must vote either "for" or "against" the measure. . . . In other words, they must answer the question: Shall the act become a law, notwithstanding the referendum? . . . Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan is very proud of the 1932 California Blue Book, now on the press. . . . Says it represents a "dream of a lifetime." . . . Former Governor and Mrs. C. C. Young extended their European tour to Rome, Jerusalem, Damascus, Constantinople and Athens. . . . They still hope to be back home in July.

Contract For Union Pacific Cut-Off Is Let

A $2,000,000 railroad construction project, including cost of right-of-way, is involved in the announcement by the Union Pacific today that it will proceed at once with the construction of the new Long Beach cut-off. The contract for the grading and concrete work incident to the project has already been awarded to the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation. The railroad company contemplates that the new work will be entirely completed during the present year.

Announcement of the awarding of the contract and the instructions to proceed at once with the work are contained in a telegram today from Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, to F. H. Knickerbocker, general manager for the Union Pacific at Los Angeles.

The Long Beach cut-off involves the construction of 7 1/2 miles of new branch line and replaces one and seven-tenths miles of the present line and along the downtown streets of Long Beach, principally along Ocean boulevard and California avenue. The cut-off project involves in addition to grading, roadbed, and miscellaneous drainage openings, six grade separations incorporating the construction of steel and concrete bridges over six important Long Beach streets, and a bridge over the Los Angeles flood control channel.

New Water Rates Are Established In Gardena Valley

By a decision of the state railroad commission, water consumers of Gardena Valley will pay a lower rate for water beginning with the month of April, according to an announcement in the Gardena Valley News. The reduction follows several months of negotiation between the special water committee of the Gardena Chamber of Commerce and the American States Water Service Company, the matter finally being placed before the railroad commission for settlement.

The water rates now in effect under the decision establishes a minimum charge of $1.50 for 1000 cubic feet up to $6.00, a charge of 15 cents per 100 cubic feet for amounts between 3000 and 4000, 12 cents per 100 cubic feet from 4000 to 6000 feet and 10 cents per 100 for all quantities above 6000. The old rate was $1.50 for 800 cubic feet.

New Member For Hole-In-One Club

Boy, page Colonel Robert Ingersoll, and present him with the compliments of the Palos Verdes Hole-In-One Club on his recent election to membership in that exclusive society. The Colonel, who heads the Torrance Military Academy, was playing a foursome with Frank L. Brown, Frank Perry and James O'Shea one day this week when the big event happened. "It was a perfect shot," said the Colonel, "at the fifteenth hole, 158 yards, and the ball landed dead on the green and rolled into the cup."

He was immediately decorated with the insignia of the order and given the pat on the back that signifies, "Well done, thou good and faithful golfer."

Special Service to Catalina Isle

LOS ANGELES.—In response to popular demand, the Santa Catalina Island Company announces a special Saturday afternoon sailing leaving Wilmington 4:00 p. m., arriving Avalon 6:15 p. m. This Saturday service will be maintained until in June when the summer boat schedule takes effect which will provide several sailings each way.

A good season for fishing is augured by the early coming of the flying fish. The evening boat trip with searchlights to see the flying fish has already started at Catalina, a month ahead of the usual schedule.

ment. His subject will be, "Assistance to Unadjusted Children."

Selection by the Boys' Glee club, junior high.

Ten minute talk by A. J. Gray of the School Savings department. Selection by the Madrigal Singers.

Ten minute talk by D. T. Young of the Safety Department, a member of the staff of the Automobile Club of Southern California, who will speak on safety measures in schools.

Ten minute address by Dr. C. M. Sellery, assistant director of the Health and Corrective Physical Education department, who will speak on the work of the school clinics.

Remarks by Principal Herbert S. Wood.

Star Spangled Banner, sung by the audience.

According to Wood, the program will be concluded by 9:30 o'clock, so that all parents, including those who have young children, who should not be kept up until a late hour, may attend.

Public School week, which was inaugurated some years ago under the sponsorship of the Masonic order, has reached such proportions now that the state board of education has taken it over. The observation of the week brings home to the parents and friends of the schools the importance of the work that is being done in preparing the young generations for their life work.

SAFEWAY'S AMBASSADORS

Meat quality is important—how it's cut and trimmed is also important—how it's priced, of course, is also a big factor in meriting your patronage. We are proud of the quality of meat we're selling at the prices we're quoting. You'll be proud of the results on your table. Safeway wants you to know that its service policy—straight through—is based on delivering successful results on your table—for your family's appreciation.
